DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Matsumura et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,416,559 B1.

Rejection of claims 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, and 8 drawn to a lithium secondary battery.

Matsumura et al., teach a lithium secondary battery wherein a plurality of cathodes and anodes are arranged to construct an electrode structure (Fig. 5), which includes an outermost layer of electrode on which a back coat layer is formed (col. 4, lines 48-55). It teaches the back coat layer prevents the electrodes from short-circuiting (col. 5, lines 64-67 and col. 6, lines 1-7). It also teaches the layer contains at least an inorganic material as a resin (col. 5, lines 64-67 and col. 6, line 1). It teaches the filler is the same material as an electrode active material (col. 7, lines 3-5). It teaches the layer has a thickness of 200 um (on both sides)(col. 7, lines 50-57). It also teaches the electrode structure is a laminate structure (col. 6, lines 42-57).

Thus, the claims are anticipated.

3. Claims 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Matsumura et al., U.S. Pat. No. 6,416,559 B1.

Rejection of claims 3 and 6 drawn to a lithium secondary battery.

Matsumura et al., teach a lithium secondary battery as described above. It teaches the material and thickness of the layer within the above claimed range and would therefore prevent the electrodes from warping. It also teaches the separator is comprises polyolefin, which would have a piercing strength of at least 50 gf.

Thus, the claims are anticipated.

However, if the claims are not anticipated, in the alternative the claims are obvious because one of ordinary skill in the art would manufacture an electrode, which would not warp and, would provide a separator with a sufficient piercing strength to further prevent short-circuiting.
